New Historical Society Exhibit

by Dee Bardwell

Excitement is at a high level at our museum! The Children's theme exhibiting clothing, furniture, games and toys is nearly finished. We are fortunate to possess the remarkable collection which will be viewed from May through September. If you are unable to attend our opening May 30, we will be pleased to open upon request. Call 665-3837 for an appointment.

There is so much to be done that we are seeking volunteers/members to join us with our projects. A computer program allows us to find articles in our collection. New acquisitions need to be recorded. Tuesday mornings find the museum a hub of activities. If you can spend some time drop by and get involved. We appreciate those who have contributed hours on behalf of the Historical Society.

Capital Stabilization Fund Vote at Town Election by Lynn Sibley, on behalf of the Whately Finance Committee & Selectmen

The Town Needs Your Help - At the June 8th Annual Town Election the voters will be asked to approve an override to fund $60,000 for a Municipal Capital Stabilization Fund. After many years of deferring projects in the hope that the economic picture would change, the Finance Committee and Selectmen have determined that the town can not continue to defer major maintenance projects, the purchase of new equipment and other similar purchases. They are now recommending a Capital Stabilization Fund that would help the town save for these types of projects. In order to set up such an account a number of steps need to take place. The first two have been completed.

- At the April 27, 2010 Town Meeting an article was proposed to create a Capital Stabilization Fund which passed unanimously.
- Another article to fund the account with $60,000 pending a Proposition 2 ½ referendum vote also passed unanimously.
- The third step is to bring the question to a ballot vote and this will take place on June 8th.

The Finance Committee and Selectmen are in favor of this approach as a means to save enough money over a number of years in order to purchase items such as highway trucks, fire trucks, ambulances, police cruisers and do major repairs to our buildings such as roof replacements and painting.

We understand that voting for an override is a difficult decision to the voters of Whately especially in the current economic environment, however, we feel this method may be more palatable to the voters than funding each item individually through a debt exclusion vote. It would keep the tax rate from spiking as it does when we vote a large item debt exclusion. This $60,000 increase each year will be a more predictable increase for the residents. The $60,000 will add about .25 cents per thousand to the tax rate. A $300,000 debt exclusion would add $1.25 per thousand to the tax rate. A house valued at $275,000 would pay an additional $68 for this $60,000 override. If we bought a fire truck at $300,000 and instead paid it in one year debt exclusion it would add $343 to the same house.

A Capital Stabilization Fund override works a little differently than a regular override. The $60,000 would be applied each year at the discretion of the Board of Selectmen. If town finances improve over time, the selectmen can reduce or eliminate the amount in any given year. All purchases or projects would need to be brought to town meeting and would require a 2/3rd's vote to pass.

As difficult as this decision is going to be for the voters, it was just as difficult for the Finance Committee and Selectmen to even ask for passage of this override. The town can continue on the same path we are taking now, with no money available for replacement of our aging fleet of vehicles or for maintenance of our town buildings, but it will catch up with us. We need to be proactive and start saving for those major purchases. Remember, that you, the voters will vote at town meeting on how this money is spent and it will require a 2/3rd's vote for any purchase out of this stabilization fund. If you have any questions please contact a member of the Select board, Finance Committee or Lynn Sibley in the Selectmen's Office at 665-4400.

Care for the Flag

by Cindy Weidhaas

Flags wear out over time, become tattered, torn and faded. A lot of the time flag's torn condition creeps upon us and goes unnoticed. Please check your flag before it gets into this condition. The site below will better help people understand what our flag represents

A web site that I have gotten information from is www.homeofheroes.com and listed below is a few rules that I found very helpful in learning about the American Flag.

The flag should never be fastened, displayed, used or stored in such a manner as to permit it to be easily torn, soiled or damaged in any way. The flag represents a living country and is itself considered a living thing.

The flag, when in such a condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning. Please call or e-mail Lynn Sibley at www.tclerk2@comcast.net She will have up to date information about a group that will take the flags for disposal. Thank you for your time and

by Judy Markland, Historical Commission

Thanks to the Massachusetts Historical Commission, Whately residents now have internet access to important information about the town's historic areas, farms and houses. The state maintains a database of historical information, the Massachusetts Cultural Resource Information System or MACRIS, on the internet. It has recently added pdf versions of many municipalities' historic resource information to this database. Whately is one of the lucky towns whose information is now readily accessible.

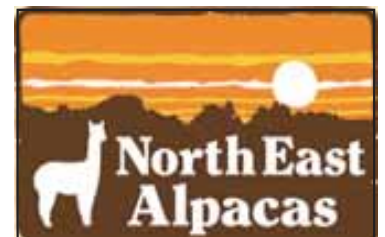

The site has a wealth of Whately information. There are "area forms" detailing the history and architecture of Whately Center, West Whately, East Whately, Canterbury and Straits as well as many farms and groups of tobacco barns. There are listings for 239 of Whately's historic buildings, most including dates and photos. More than 100 of these buildings also have detailed pdf files on line that delineate the building's architecture and history. There is also information for cemeteries, mill sites and other historic objects.

Spend some time with MACRIS and take a trip back through time in Whately! You can refine your search by neighborhood, address or type of structure. The MACRIS web site is <http://mhc-macris.net/index.htm>.

You can also find a link at the Historical Society website whatelyhistorical.org.

Check it out. You'll be amazed at what you discover. If the Internet isn't your thing, you may find the information on paper at the Historical Society on Tuesday mornings, at the Whately Library or by contacting Alan McArdle of the Historical Commission at ahmcardle@gmail.com.

News from the Friends of the Whately Library

by Susan Boone

Malcolm Forbes once said, "The richest person in the world - in fact all the riches in the world - couldn't provide you with anything like the endless, incredible loot available at your local library." It's true and if you're looking for an easy way to support your local library, the Friends are here to help you make that happen. We're looking for eager hands and generous hearts to help make more special programs available at the library. Over the last year the Friends have made possible some wonderful kids and adult programs, including goodies to go with them – book sales, animal entertainment, movies, summer reading programs and much more. And coming soon to a library near you are eco-friendly book bags, a luscious shade of green (of course!) with a picture of our very own library screened onto the front, just what you needed for your groceries and books. They'll be on sale for $10 and all for a good cause.

If you join (or rejoin) the Friends before July 1 we'll put your name in a hat and the first 5 we pick out will get a free bag (what a deal!). So stop by and check out the incredible loot at your local library, pick up a form and join the Friends. It's only $10 for individuals, $20 for families and $35 for organizations or businesses, or you can be Patron for $50, a Sponsor for $100, or a Benefactor for over $100, and we'll even find another special name for you if you want to be a really big donor! If you have any questions call the library at 665-2170 or go to our website at <http://www.whately.org/library/Friends.htm> where you'll find a handy form.

What a glorious time of year! Watching all of nature blooming and growing is inspiring. At the Whately church, we too are emerging into a busy Spring with lots of activities. On May 9th, we installed seven new acolytes. We are also holding preparatory meetings for accepting new members into the church.

Our church suppers continue to be a high point in the community. Hope you don't miss our Asparagus supper on May 20th or our Strawberry supper on June 17th. For reservations, please call the LaSalle's at 665-2663.

For the town-wide Memorial Day celebration on May 30th, our worship service at 10 am begins the day. We hope to have a good representation of civic groups attending including police, fire department, Grange, Scouts and others. Also, any one from any branch of the armed services is welcome. Our offering will again be dedicated to Canines for Combat Veterans of NEADS/Dogs for Deaf and Disabled Americans, an extremely worthwhile organization in Princeton, Massachusetts that places service dogs with veterans returning from combat with physical disabilities or post traumatic stress (PTSD).

During July, we will again be worshipping at the chapel in West Whately. Please join us!

Willow Inspires Indomitable Spirit in People of Whately

The following article was submitted by Diane Porcella, I added the title - the editor.

"You can cut all the flowers but you cannot keep Spring from coming." Pablo Neruda

For the second spring now the willow trees and bushes at the end of our driveway have been attacked, repeatedly hacked away at with an angry blade. I really cannot understand why anyone would do this. But, the willow is a forgiving plant and it will forgive these attacks, grow stronger and be a food source for caterpillars, bees butterflies and other creatures. Last year, I rooted the "clippings" and happily, they have made it through the winter and are all wispy spring green. I'll try it again this year. It is a great disappointment that I need to, but I feel like it is important to meet this senseless aggression with some hope. And move on into the sunshine.

Watermelon Wednesdays

By Paul Newlin

This year is the big 10 + 1 year anniversary (in other words, 11th; I missed recognition of the tenth last year!) of Whately's own concert series, Watermelon Wednesdays at the West Whately Chapel. And it is by far the biggest and best so far. Here's the lineup: see <http://www.watermelonwednesdays.com/>

All concerts are $15 and begin at 7:30. Advance tickets are available through www.brattleborotix.com. Doors open approximately fifteen minutes before the show. Watermelon comes with ticket price. Brownies might be available for a slight charge.

The concerts are made possible in part by a grant from the Whately Cultural Council. And thanks to the Congregational Church as well.

Another Successful Event

By Steve Calderone

The 13th Annual Whately Family Talent Festival was held on Saturday, March 27th. Once again, the very talented volunteer musicians in the community provided a performance that was enjoyed by all. Thanks to the wonderful folks who took part in this great traditional springtime event.

The highlights of the event included the amazing performance by the tiny string players, including Dominique Whitney, Gabrielle Whitney, and Chanthoeun Varon-Collins, who all have been providing classical music to the WFTF audience for several years.

The other acts included singers Ana Labato, Clair Rief, Mary Mason and Destiny McDonough (who also added a Moon Walk), rapper Elijah Forcier, wizards Mindy Esposito, Yo Kinsman, and Mimi Olsen, and flutist was Elizabeth Calderone. We also had guitar and vocal performances by Matthew Manheim, Hugh Manheim, and Jerry Mason. In addition,

www.signaturesounds.com

Uncle Dave Robinson entertained the crowd with Cutting Edge Jazz on his Musical Saw and Harmonica. A good time was had by all.

Thanks to the many sponsors of this year's WTF: The Whately Inn, the Bow Wow Bath House, LaSalle's Florist, The L&L Fence Company, Muriel's Handicrafts, The Whately Antiquarian Book Center, The Yankee Candle Flagship in South Deerfield, Elm Farm Bakery in South Deerfield, Holiday Pizza in South Deerfield, Wolfie's Family Restaurant in South Deerfield, and Subway of Elm Street in South Deerfield.

Thanks also to the wonderful Whately Elementary School staff, including Sarah Williams, Lola Stone, and Ralph Lovering, as well as our new principal, Pete Crisafulli. They all know the wonderful benefit of this great community tradition. Their support made this event possible.

We look forward to seeing more talented folks and enthusiastic audience members, next spring, at the 14th Annual Whately Family Talent Festival in 2011. Hope to see you then!!

Soon tree frogs will be singing out
