

Part 16
Sartwell - Tower
(excluding Smith)

NATHANIEL SARTWELL

The son of Obadiah and Rachel (Parker) Sartwell, he was born 12 Feb. 1729 in Groton, Massachusetts and died in 1816 in Brattleboro, Vermont. ¹ He married Hannah, daughter of John Gunn, who was born in 1737 in Sunderland and died in 1826 in Brattleboro. ² There are no birth records for children in Whately, but the grave annotation of his son Sylvester says that he was born in Whately in 1757. Crafts wrote that Nathaniel joined in a petition to excuse Canterbury ³ residents from paying school and church taxes to Whately as they were much closer to the church and school in Sunderland. The name is a variation on the more common Sawtelle.

DEACON DAVID SAUNDERS

This man is supposed to have come to Whately from Mason, New Hampshire where he was born about 1791. He was last recorded in Whately in the 1855 state census. David married Amy Wheeler who was born about 1793 in New Hampshire. They had four children:

William, b. 15 April 1814. No supporting records found. Albert D., b. 1816 and d. of a fever, 8 Oct. 1862, in Williamsburg. ⁴ He m. Jane Tileston.

Lucy Stone, b. 1 July 1821, married Asahel SANDERSON, the son of Eli SANDERSON (19) of Whately. Her death record says she was born in Whately and died 18 June 1910 of "causes incident to old age". ⁵

Sarah Wheeler, b. 6 April 1823 and d. 13 Feb. 1919. ⁶ She m. Benjamin Franklin REED of Whately.

WILLIAM SCOTT 2

Supposed to be the son of Benjamin of Braintree, Crafts suggests that he was the son of Thomas of Hartford. This researcher found no evidence for either father. William married Hannah, daughter of William ALLIS (1). He was involved in the fight at Turners Falls in 1676. They had ten children born at Hatfield:

The son of William (2) and Hannah (ALLIS) Scott, he was born in Hatfield 18 June 1671 and is supposed to have died in 1745. He married Sarah Barrett of Deerfield. She was the daughter of Benjamin Barrett of Deerfield, a soldier in the Indian War under Captain Turner. Josiah owned land and developed a farm in the area called “the Straits”, a part of Hatfield that became Whately in 1771. On 5 July 1710, as a resident of Hatfield, he sold land in Deerfield to Samuel Bardwell of Hatfield ⁸ “which land belonged to my honorable father, Benjamin Barrett”. ⁹ He and Sarah had seven children born in Hatfield. We follow only Josiah (5) who inherited his father’s land in the Straits.

The son of Josiah (3) and Sarah (Barrett) Scott, he was born at Hatfield 31 May 1708 and died “sudden in bed”, 1 Aug. 1792. ¹² He married Jemima Tuttle who was born in 1714 in Connecticut and died of “old age and mortifi” on 13 April 1802. ¹³ They are both buried in East Whately. ¹⁴ Jemima was a descendant of William Tuttle of New Haven. The family is infamous for having among their eleven children two insane, two murderers and one adulteress. William and his wife are also the ancestors of the famous minister, Jonathan Edwards and of Aaron Burr.. There is a great deal of online information about the Tuttles. Benjamin and Jemima had five children:

Jemima, b. about 1742 and d. at an unknown date. She m. Jonathan Graves of Sunderland.

The son of Joseph (4) and Lydia (Leonard) Scott, he was born at Hatfield 18 Aug. 1717 and died 7 April 1812. He wrote his will on 17 March 1789 23 years before he died. He left his wife, Submit, the customary third of his real estate for her lifetime, two cows “forever”, one horse to ride “at her pleasure”, and all the personal estate that she brought to the marriage. To his sons Phineas and David he gave five shillings and land previously deeded to them. To his sons Abel and Selah, he left his properties on Chestnut Plain (now North Street),¹⁵ stipulating that Abel was to have the south half and Selah the north.¹⁶ He married (1) Esther, the daughter of Joseph BELDEN (6) of Whately. Esther died supposedly on her 41st birthday, 20 Sept. 1761. There is a Find a Grave record without a known place of burial. Joseph married (2) Submit, the daughter of John Belden of Hatfield. Submit was born in 1732 and died of dropsy 6 July 1809. She was a relative but not a sibling of his first wife. David and Esther had ten children.

Margaret and Esther Belden were sisters. Margaret was born in 1732. Although there is a 1788 death in an internet tree, it is later than the date of her marriage in that same year and thus deserves to be questioned. In 1888 she married (2) Eleazer FRARY (5) of Hatfield. Joseph and Margaret had twelve children:

HEMAN SWIFT 1

Heman was born in 1764. Probably based on an excerpt from Cutter's Genealogical History of Northern New York, Crafts says he came from Barnard, Vermont. Other (undocumented) sources say Barnstable Massachusetts. In 1834 his son Carlos Swift made a statement as follows: *I Carlos Swift of Whately...of lawful age depose and say that Heman Swift of said Whately, a Revolutionary Pensioner, was my father. That he was the identified person named in the pension certificate and That I knew Him well at the time of his death; that the said Heman Swift died on the sixteenth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand and thirty-four. I further depose and say that Orpha Swift was the lawful wife of the said Heman Swift and that she is now his widow and still living and has not intermarried but continues the widow of the said Heman Swift deceased.*³³⁹ Heman died 16 June 1834 in Whately.³⁴⁰ His Find a Grave record says he was born in Whately, but this is clearly wrong. He married Orpha Howard in New Braintree in 1782.³⁴¹ She was born in 1761 and died on 27 Jan. 1847.³⁴² There is a brief probate record naming six of her children and stating that she was a Revolutionary War Pensioner.³⁴³ Heman and Orpha had nine children, six daughters followed by three sons.

Sylvia, born 1783 and died at an unknown date. Crafts wrote that she married Eben McIntosh, but no supporting records were found.
